

How to Shave Your Goat for Show

By an eHow Contributing Writer

All cleaning and shaving of your goat can be done at home before the show. It is best to shave your goat a few days before the show to allow that "just cut" look to grow out.

Difficulty: Moderate
Instructions

Things You'll Need:

- Chain Or Nylon Pet Collars
- Small Animal Clippers And Guards
- Grooming Brush
- Lead Ropes

1. Step 1

Place the goat in a milking stand or tied securely to its pen.

2. Step 2

Use a 1/2-inch to 3/4-inch guard on the shears, depending on the length of your goat's hair.

3. Step 3

Clip the entire goat.

4. Step 4

Brush the goat and look for long hair.

5. Step 5

Shave the udder. Use shears without a guard for a close, clean look. Do this step very carefully, as you can burn or nick your goat.
